

1. User Authentication

1.1 Login

The system shall allow users to login with username and password.

The system shall validate user credentials against the database.

The system shall generate an authentication token upon successful login.